

These Little Creatures

*You hear the children laughing Listen to the stories told,
You love them on a good day,
And even when they're bold.*

*You make extra allowances,
With much more patience now,
You've time to listen and explain,
The wherefore and the how.*

*What keeps the plane up in the sky,
And why do ships not sink,
Or why the fish not drown in water?
Many questions, no time to think.*

*Then the day when you ask yourself Has life really passed you by?
You don't feel like doing anything,
But for them, you have to try.*

*Who are these little creatures then,
They're our precious little Grandchildren,
We love them so much, God knows.*

Reflection

We are all living through a very traumatic time right now, and it is understandable why many grandparents are experiencing a very testing time. It is a huge sacrifice not to be able to visit their grandchildren or enjoy the comfort and joy of being in each other's company, making it challenging to confirm their kinship, promoting their families wellbeing.

Remember to keep them (this month,) in our prayers that the precious bond between them, be restored, strengthened and any anxiety alleviated as we all move away from this pandemic.

July

Our Parish Prayer Day is on Tuesday the 7th.
